Schedule of Classes, Ulster Academy 1892

PAST

We are now at the midpoint of an era which is often termed the century of progress. During the past fifty years tremendous advances have been made in practically every conceivable field of human endeavor. As we consider these accomplishments, we often overlook the great strides which have occurred in the field of education.

Therefore in accordance with our theme, the passage of time and its significance to us, we shall compare the curriculum offered in Ulster Academy and in Kingston Academy around the year 1900 with the present day curriculum at Kingston High School.

We were extremely fortunate to discover the actual school schedule of Ulster Academy as it was in the year 1892. The blackboard upon which this schedule was originally written has been covered with glass so that a record of the subjects taught in Kingston's secondary schools during that period has been preserved through the ensuing years.

Examination of this schedule seems to indicate that the greatest emphasis in the high schools of Kingston more than fifty years ago was placed upon the language courses. We find that three years of Greek and four years of Latin were taught, as well as French and German. To have regularly scheduled classes in spelling, penmanship, and reading is quite different from our high schools of today, for now students are expected to have mastered these subjects before graduation from elementary school. Separate classes in United States history, economics, and English history apparently were the forerunners of our modern day comprehensive social studies course.

Although we do not usually associate mathematics and science courses with the public schools of fifty years ago, most of the subjects in these fields which we study today were included in their earlier curriculum. Noteworthy too is the inclusion of bookkeeping, so early foreshadowing our very comprehensive business course.

FOREWORD

The year 1950 is here at last. Not only is this the year in which we graduate, but it is the turning point of the twentieth century. For this reason we have chosen as our theme, time.

Each of us should realize that time is everything that has been done, is being done, and will be done. We associate every happening, large or small, outstanding or insignificant, with time. Without these events, the passage of time would be merely fleeting seconds, hours, and seasons.

During our high school years, time has been especially meaningful to us because of the many memorable events which have taken place. In this Maroon, we are preserving the memories of those moments.

PRESENT

Kingston High School can be justly proud of the wide range of subjects offered in its present day curriculum. The student entering this school has the opportunity to choose between courses which prepare him for college entrance, the business world, a vocation in some skilled industry, the responsibilities of the home, or a career in the fields of art or music.

In its academic course, Kingston High has retained a great many of the subjects which were offered at Ulster Academy. In our language department, Greek has been replaced by Spanish; but French, German and Latin are still important in our high school education. The courses in English and social studies which are now being taught are comparable with those which were given at the turn of the century, although perhaps less emphasis is now being placed upon geography in our social studies courses. Today we study almost the same subjects in the fields of science and mathematics which were being taught to our grandparents before the arrival of the twentieth century. Trigonometry and chemistry represent the only subjects which have been added to our curriculum in these departments during the past fifty years.

Although the academic course includes subjects which very nearly parallel those taught in 1892, the extensive programs in vocational and business training, homemaking, and music have been offered in Kingston's secondary schools only during the past quarter century.

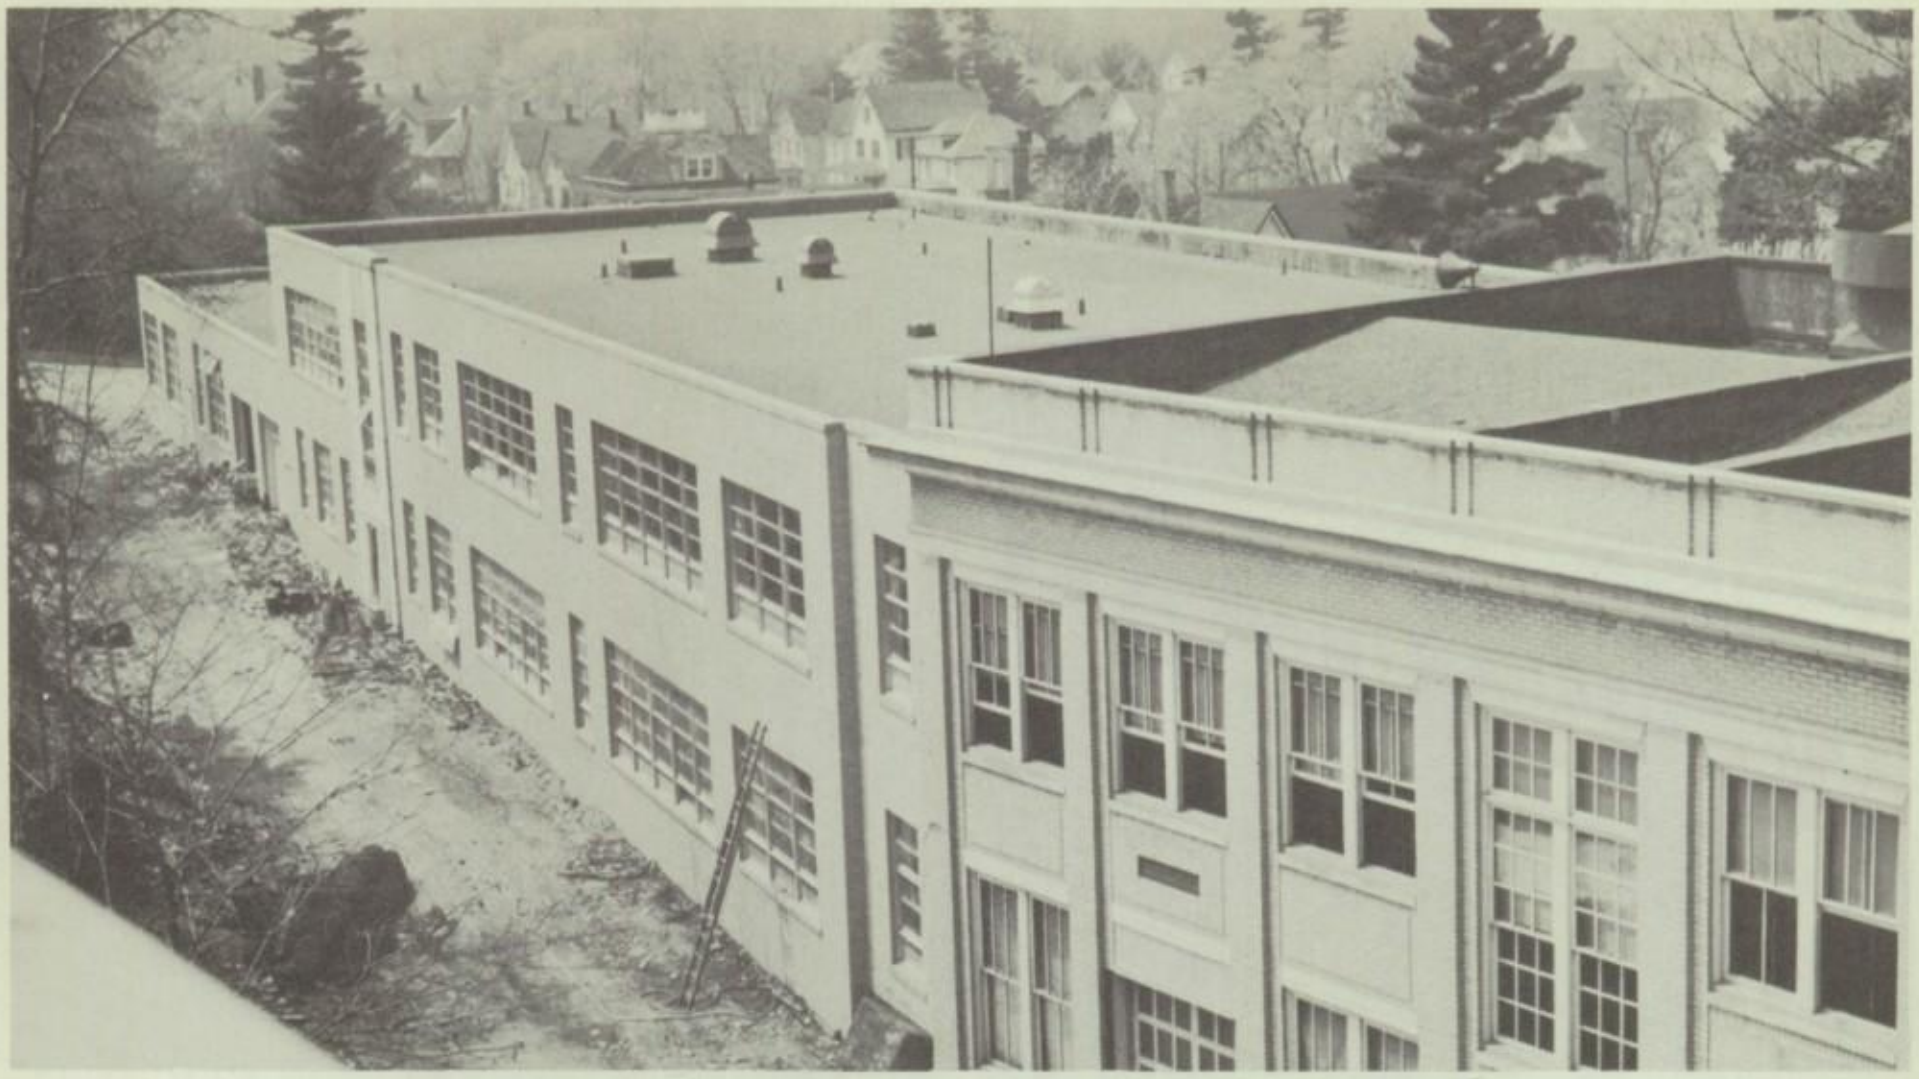
Today at Kingston High School more than twenty per cent of our students are enrolled in vocational training courses. As a result of their high school training in subjects dealing with topics such as automobile repairing, electricity, industrial machinery and woodworking, these students have received valuable preparation for employment in these respective fields.

The business courses that we have today have advanced a long way since 1892 when bookkeeping and commercial algebra represented the sole business preparation at Ulster Academy. Now at Kingston High School the business department offers not only a wide selection of business subjects which include: shorthand, salesmanship, secreetarial practice, typewriting and business law but also opportunities for students to receive credit for practical work experience.

One of the most practical subjects taught at K. H. S. is homemaking. From homemaking and home economics invaluable training is given to our future housewives.

In the excellent courses offered in music and art the natural talent of our future singers and artists is uncovered and developed.

We have known Mr. Martin for only one year; and yet we, the seniors of K. H. S., have come both to respect him as an able and efficient administrator and to admire him as a friend, whose sense of humor and understanding of our problems have made our last year at Kingston High a truly memorable one. Therefore, it is with sincerity that we dedicate this, the 1950 MAROON, to our new principal; Mr. John Henry Martin.



New Home of the Vocational and Homemaking Departments

FUTURE

Since the foundation of our public school system the lapse of time has been accompanied by a gradual evolution in our schools. We have attempted to show this progess as it has occurred in our Kingston high schools during the past half century. But to secure an over-all picture of time with its relationship to our schools, we must not only record the changes of the past but also look forward into the future.

With the school year beginning next September, a number of important advances will be present at Kingston High. The new addition to the vocational building, which is being constructed to provide the latest most modern facilities for our courses at K. H. S., will be in use by that time. A complete homemaking department, a new chemistry lab, two auto mechanics shops and one electrical shop are to be included in this building, as well as rooms for instrumental music and choir practice. The agriculture courses at Kingston High will also be taught here next year.

This addition is but one of the great changes being planned for the coming year. In September we expect Kingston High to have the entire freshman class for the first time since the completion of M. J. M. This influx of students will create a terrific problem because it will increase the congested conditions which already exist here. In order to minimize the effects of this increase by utilizing our available facilities to the greatest possible advantage, a completely new schedule for the school day will be adopted. The outstanding innovations in this schedule are the eight period school day and the elimination of the present first and second lunch periods. Under this plan, lunch will be served during three periods, the fourth, fifth, and sixth. The student will eat in one of these periods and attend regular classes during the other two, thus eliminating the present first and second lunch system. When this plan was evolved, one of the problems which arose was to find a time when club activities and assembly programs could be carried out if there were no first and second lunch periods. The solution of this problem is that there will be two periods each day, first and eighth, which will be fifty-seven minutes instead of forty-five minutes in length. Classes which are held during these two periods will meet only four days each week, and on the fifth day those periods will be used for the assembly programs and the club activities.

Also, beginning next year, the students who are entering fourth year English classes will be able to choose the courses which they desire to take. Instead of the set Regents and School English IV courses which we now have, there will be six separate courses offered in the Senior English classes. Five of these courses, journalism, creative writing, world literature, radio work shop and the college preparatory course will be half year subjects; while the sixth, everyday remedial English, will be a full year course.

With these plans already definitely adopted for the coming year and proposed projects to improve the lower confines of our school, the cafeteria and the shower rooms, the future for Kingston High looks bright.

STUDENT COUNCIL

"The old common arbitrater, time."

Standing: L. Brooks
Sitting: T. Brower, C. Bohnke, B. Lawrence.

If democracy should be practiced at home and in school, certainly we of Kingston High carry on the part of the school. Our Student Council has given us all a chance to have a voice in our school government. In this organization there are many officers and committees; and leading them all is their president, Richard Davenport. The vice-president is Kay Nicolosi; secretary, Peggy Kolz; and treasurer, Ronald Atkins. Miss Quimby and Mr. Klein are the advisors.

The membership of Student Council includes the whole student body, but it is represented by one person from each homeroom. These, plus the executive committee, meet once a week.

There are many busy and wide-awake committees carrying out the requests and plans of the student body. Chairmen of these are: Betty Flint, publicity; Bill Shaughnessy, assembly program; Fred Ferraro, cold lunch; Ted Hutton, point system; John English, marshals; Joe Bosco, pep rally; Pat Tarr, program; Cynthia Steketee, banking; Douw Meyers, general organization and sticker contest; Bob Feldman, theater; and Calvin Bohnke, safety.

The purpose of this organization should be quite obvious, after one reads this extremely diversified list of committees. One might be led to believe that the students run the whole school, but never fear; there were some advisors mentioned a bit before, who act as the tail on the kite! However, Student Council does give the student body a wonderful chance to exercise a little democracy and have its finger in the many "pies" that give the school much activity.

HONOR SOCIETY

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of time."

The greatest moment in the high school career of an honor student is that period of suspense, when through the pervading silence and darkness of the auditorium he hears his name uttered and he summons all his sense of composure to arise and accept, rather obliviously, the honor conferred upon him by a former member of the society, in appreciation and recognition of his outstanding qualities of scholarship, leadership, and character.

The Honor Society has adopted a unique system of election whereby new officers are chosen each term. This system effects a greater participation upon the part of those recently inducted and enables them to materialize their ideas for prospective society service. The officers of the first term were John E. Glennon, president; Richard Nash, vice-president; and Patricia Tarr, secretary-treasurer. The second term incumbents in offices were Ronald Atkins, Joyce Massa, and Janet Roesler. Their capable advisor during both terms was Miss Hull.

The Honor Society has an installation ceremony once each term. In the fall, senior members are inducted; and in the spring, the junior members. Each of these events was climaxed with a tea given by the elder members.

Prior to the Christmas vacation, several of the members, together with Miss Hull, attended the National Honor Society induction and tea at Ellenville. Again this spring the organization was represented at New Paltz for their initiation.

On March 28, six members entered the society's scholarship examination, which proved comcomparatively easy.

LETTER CLUB

"That old bald cheater, time"

The fifty members of the Kingston High School Letter Club are indeed splendid examples of young manhood. Not only are they a group of idolized athletes who have earned their white "K," but they are an active service group. They have added much to K. H. S. by contributing their services at the A. A. Party, May Day exercises, by marshaling at games, by running the checkroom at the basketball games, by doing locker duty, ushering and also by helping in the pep rallies. The outstanding performance of some at the pep rally assembly before the big game with Newburgh on Thanksgiving Day will not be forgotten by those who saw it.

This club originated when the boys showed an interest in serving the school in some way other than in sports. It was a wonderful idea, and it fosters a good attitude and tends to set an example for other boys to follow.

In order to become members of this club, the boys must first earn letters by actively participating in one sport or more. Since there are so many sports to chose from, the number of members is quite large. These members, in some cases, have proved their worth in more than one sport.

Their president this year is Bernie Scheffel, and their vice-president is John Kozlowski, who proved to be invaluable on the football field. The job of secretary-treasurer belongs to Don Hendrikson, who also distinguished himself on the football field.

SENIOR PRISMA

Which club is IT for almost every senior girl in K.H.S.? Senior Prisma, of course! Few clubs have the variety of projects and accomplishments of this one. The president is Ellen Byrne; the vice-president, Joan Hennegan; the secretary-treasurer, Kathleen Joyce. The three advisors to the club are Mrs. Norwood, Mrs. Crook, and Miss Selmer.

The club has many activities which keep it constantly in the limelight. Every spring Prisma puts on a dance. A recent outstanding accomplishment was bringing Elisabeth Hohenauer over from Austria to the United States to study. Whenever Elisabeth has avacation from school, she comes to visit K.H.S.; and at those times many different girls have had the pleasure of entertaining her at their homes during her visit. Awards given to K.H.S. graduates by Prisma are two one-hundred-dollar scholarships.

One of the first projects on entering the club is participation in a magazine drive. Each member is excepted to sell at least one subscription, and there are many prizes for those who sell great numbers of them. Three pen and pencil sets were given to senior girls as awards this year.

If one should come to Kingston High and not know one's way around, there is a Prisma organization to help the newcomers. Prisma Hospitality Committee always has a girl sitting at the information desk in the front hall to inform and direct visitors.

The purpose of Prisma is to create a better understanding among the girls and to serve the community in every way possible.

JUNIOR PRISMA

Junior Prisma, a section of one of the oldest clubs in the school, is a service club. In rendering services, it has done a great deal toward beautifying the school. It is a large group and includes almost every junior girl. Prisma has grown beyond its boundaries until it includes, in one section or another, almost every girl in the school. Thus, it is one club that has grown with the school itself.

The sections work together and separately on many projects. Even joint meetings are held when some particular emergency arises to include all groups. Some activities of this year included the spelling bee, Spring dance, magazine drive, and the scholarships awarded.

The spelling bee was won by Sylvia Kern, the runner up being Marion Wooll. A large committee served to conduct this bee, which included all the top spellers of the English classes. Each English class had some sort of spelling lesson through which the two best spellers were selected. These were sent to the bee itself, where by the process of elimination, the best spellers championed.

The annual magazine drive brought good results with approximately twenty-eight hundred dollars worth of subscriptions obtained. The Junior girls came in last in the amount of subscriptions sold; but a junior girl, Muriel Weal, sold the most subscriptions.

They were advised by Miss Mullen, with Leona Olen and Rosetta Colange as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of this section of the club.

SOPHOMORE PRISMA

"There's a time for everything."

In this year, the middle of the twentieth century, the Sophomore Prisma has manifest itself to be a very energetic organization, exuberant in those qualities of co-operation, originality and initiative which merged to provide a very beneficial and pleasant diversion for approximately one hundred and fifty lasses of the sophomore class.

The third vice-president of Prisma, Beatrice Newkirk, presided over all the meetings of the club and Jean Millonig occupied the position of sophomore secretary-treasurer. All meetings were conducted efficiently under the competent supervision of Mrs. Crook and Miss Schuetz.

The subject of greatest concern and discussion in this group, as well as in all the other Prisma sections, has been personality development, together with the instruction (accomplished primarily by the use of movies, stressing etiquette, and by animating participant debate) in those mannerisms that constitute an attractive personality.

During the annual magazine drive, sponsored by Prisma, this group excelled both of its sister organizations by amassing the largest lucrative amount of subscriptions. Katherine Schiovone, Barbara Galete, Maura Newman, Geraldine Billings and Barbara Hearst were among those who received Parker '21' pens for their notable ability in salesmanship.

This section also collaborated with the other sections of Prisma during the spelling bee and in the accumulation of money for the Prisma scholarship.

At Christmas the traditional task of decorating the front corridor was undertaken and performed by this group in festive manner. In addition, during this holiday season they sponsored a tea for the faculty.

Second row: P. Stauble, B. Radcliffe, R. Woodman, C. Constant.
Third row: F. Young, B. Burr, F. Roedell, R. Gauthier, E. Bower.

By its activities throughout school and community, Hi-Y has promoted high standards of character and leadership in its members.

The Bookwalter chapter, composed of seniors, is led by William Whitney, president; Paul Butler, vice-president; John Glennon, secretary; and Walter Smith, treasurer. The club's projects included city government day, the May Day picnic, and the Christmas dance.

With Robert Woodman, president; William Radcliffe, vice-president; William Burr, treasurer; and Carl Constant, secretary, the Alpha chapter, carried out such projects as scrap drives and bake sales to obtain funds for the Hi-Y college scholarship.

Both clubs were represented at area Hi-Y conferences and at the state Hi-Y Assembly at Albany and were ably guided by Mr. Clarence Corell, Mr. Alfred Bruckert, and Mr. Clifford Miller, advisors.

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teens Club is comprised of two groups, Tri-Hi and So-Hi. This club is open to all junior and senior girls who wish to follow in the endeavor of the club's creed: to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religion and nationalities, and to grow in knowledge and love of God.

The members meet every second and fourth Monday for a program and business meeting and every first and third Monday for fun night. Among their great variety of programs have been speakers on puppets, Christmas decorations, boy-girl relations, good grooming, and special interest groups which included canasta, ping pong, square dancing, and knitting. Members attended the Hudson Valley Y-Teen conference and Eastern Area Summer Conference. They sponsored the Winter Wonderland dance, Spring Style show, joint Hi-Y program, week-end camping, and service projects. Through all these many group activities, better relations have been developed among these fifty some odd girls.

MAROON MASQUERS

First row: J. Gilbert, W. Welhaf, D. Minor.
Second row: W. Hansen, W. Leonard, F. Ferraro, R. Hopfer.

The Maroon Masquers is a very active and popular dramatic club. Just to show the delight some take in it, we quote one of its members who said, after a wonderfully long and lazy Christmas vacation, "I feel so averse to work the only reason why I come to school is that there may be a Maroon Masquers meeting."

The president of the Club is Mary Dunn. The other three officers of the club were members of the cast of our annual senior play, which was this year, Little Women. The vice-president, George Dyczewski, was Professor Bhaer. The secretary, Constance Reppert, better known as Connie, took the lead as Jo. The treasurer, Pat Tarr, was Meg. The advisors of the club are Miss Mullen, one of our favorite English teachers and a very enjoyable person, and Miss Tarrant, who is well known for working herself almost to death for the sake of classes, clubs, and plays galore. This very book, the Maroon, is quite dependent, financially, upon the success of the senior play production, which she directs. Our dramatic department is very well known for its first rate senior play performances.

One of the activities of the club is the annual trip to New York. There are seen one or more of Broadway's hit plays. This is an experience looked forward to by many; for, as one can well imagine, it means a great deal to see professional plays and have the opportunity to enjoy their excellence.

Second row: H. Mercurio, B. Baker, N. Kiff, G. Pagliaro, E. Sinis, J. Gorsline.
Third row: T. Anderson, R. Williams, H. Perlowin.

PALETTEERS

The Paletteers is a group of students organized to bring together students with similar interests who want further activities in art outside of their regular classes.

This year the club has expanded and has about thirty-eight members. Among those students who are very active are Nancy Kiff, Rose Verdilli, Frank Larkin, Thelma Smischkoff, Thomas Anderson, Dick Talleur, and Joan Proper. Their able advisor is Mrs. O'Dell.

Among their activities were the exhibition of art work in the corridors. It was one of the finest shows seen in this school and included fashions, Christmas wrapping paper, still life, and many other subjects. The members also conducted Christmas and Easter sales for which members of the club made appropriate articles that netted a nice profit. Then too they had some parties and some educational trips.

Mrs. O'Dell expressed the opinion that the club was successful in that it brought students together who were interested in art and gave them a chance to do different types of art work from that which was done in classes. Also it helped students who were thinking of careers in art for the future. Several past members have gone on and are going on in the field of art.

Some members of the club have won awards for their art work in various contests. This year's art editor for the Maroon is an active member of this club.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The familiar maroon and white uniforms of the cheerleaders add much color to our big games. If it were not for these girls, many a game might have been lost; for it was through their fighting spirit that most of the players received inspiration to get in and really hit hard to win.

This year's squad was made up of eight girls who were not just average but really tops. They were Doris Parslow, the captain, Peggy Kolz, co-captain, Mary Chmura, Betty Flint, Mickey Amarello, Carol Schoonmaker, Audrey Burke, and Carol Cunningham.

These girls worked, not only at the games, but also at pep rallies and assemblies. They worked alone a good deal, however, with the advice of Miss Darling, our new girls' physical education instructor.

CHEERLEADERS

First row: J. Perry, M. Cunningham.
Second row: E. Howard, E. Levintan.
Third row: K. Nicolosi, J. Davis.

The six girls who worked on the junior varsity cheering squad deserve much more recognition than they have received, for they worked under the handicap of a small cheering section. However, they cheered on the Junior Varsity football players at all their games, both at home and away.

These six girls who worked so hard were Kay Nicolosi, as captain, Janet Davis, Marcia Cunningham, Eileen Levintan, Josephine Perry, and Esther Howard.

Also they assisted the varsity squad in putting on the big pep rallies and cheering assemblies.

Some of these girls will probably become varsity cheerleaders next year, when they will again wear the maroon and white to cheer on their school team. They will work under their able advisor, Miss Darling, a second time.

GYM CLUB

This year the Gym Club has increased its membership to thirty-five. Through this club these boys are given practice in gymnastics and appartus work. They are selected during tryouts, and only those who show aptitude for this type of work are picked. It also offers an opportunity for those boys who are not interested in competitive sports.

Their ability was aptly demonstrated in assemblies before the M.J.M. pupils and the students of K.H.S., and also at one of the basketball games during the season. Their real day came on May Day with an exhibition that thrilled and chilled many spectators.

DENTAL ASSISTANTS

First row: L. Nickerson, M. Schipp, G. Mellert.
Second Row: M. Kinderman, P. Peters, M. Guadognola, C. Cunningham.

"Time is the nurse and breeder of all good"

The idea for this group was conceived by our school medical director, in cooperation with the Junior Red Cross, to expand the school dental program. These eight girls assist the dentists in their work and spend an average of five periods per week doing clinical work.

This practical experience evaluates their aptitude for medical and dental nursing and also develops their ability to work with the public. Besides rendering these services, it also brings them the realization of a job well done and prepares them for their life's work.

The group is lead by Joyce, Mellert, chairman, and Lorraine Nickerson, co-chairman. The other six members are M. Kinderman, K. Joyce, M. Guadagnola, H. Howard, E. Osberg and P. Peters. They are under the leadership and guidance of the school medical directors, school dentists, school nurse, and Mrs. Wylie.

KEY CLUB

The Kingston High School Key Club, sponsored by the Kingston Kiwanis Club, aims to be of service to the high school and to develop leadership. The thirty boys who are chosen for membership are "key" boys in K. H. S.

Among their many services are the selling of milk to relieve congestion in the lunchroom, the sponsoring of the clothing drive for the "Save the Children Drive," the supervising of the lunchroom in CI, the sending of baskets of Christmas gifts to families of the city, and also aiding in the production of the "Kiwanis Kapers."

President, Dick Davenport; vice-president, Douw Meyers; secretary, Allen Deegan; and treasurer, Dieter Schreiver are their very capable leaders.

MARSHALS

"They also serve who only stand and wait." The subject of the previous quotation could appropriately be the marshals of our school, those stern reminders of discipline, whom we may encounter in a not too dignified manner as we may have occasion to violate directions in the recurrent three-minute stampede between classes.

The marshals are under the administration of a special Student Council committee and are under the supervision of Emery Kelder and George McEvoy.

Seldom do we realize the extremely important service performed so efficiently by these boys in managing our passage from class to class. To them we owe a tremendous sum of appreciation which they would gladly accept in the form of our more rigorous attention to and our more cheerful application of their admonitions.

First row: R. Mundt, C. Lipton, H. Taylor, G. Mullen, R. Bishop.
Second row: A. Aldridge, E. Kelder, J. Berlanga, V. Kozlowski, C. Talleur.
Third row: J. Misasi, R. Laware, J. Bechtold, C. Bohnke, J. English, J. McNierney, C. Page.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Assistants Club is one of the few clubs that are formed really to serve the school. The president of this club is Betty Jean Faurote; the vice-president, Jackie Rudatz; the secretary, Jane Howard; and treasurer, Pat Carr. Miss Stocking is the advisor.

The club was organized six years ago by Miss Delia Brown. It affords very excellent training for girls who are interested in books and library work.

The girls sort and check library slips and put away books that are brought in or left out on tables.

One of the most active committees of this club is the Bulletin Board Committee, which keeps the displays on the bulletin boards varied, advertising the arrival of new books and other materials of interest.

RECORD CLUB

First row: D. Terns, J. Van Etten, E. Krom, B. Blankschen, R. Trowbridge, J. Goodrich.
Second row: D. Schultz, J. Van Etten, M. Mehm, M. Guerrera, N. Braddon, N. Williams.
Third row: J. Perry, R. Palisi, J. Roesler, S. Parslow, G. Pagliaro.
Fourth row: B. Mowle, E. Schmidt, P. Peters, B. Van Sickle, M. Rowe, M. Jahn.

"Time's an endless song."

To the last note of recorded music, these approximately forty-six musical enthusiasts linger in the library to derive from the rhythmic tones proceeding from the phonograph their full significance. Organized to provide a channel whereby those interested in music, both classical and popular, might enhance their understanding, this club has accomplished its purpose primarily by the use of recorded melodies.

Directed by Miss Stocking, the officers: president, Jeanne Van Etten; vice-president, Janet Roesler and secretary-treasurer, Betty Mowle, have striven to furnish the members with constructive diversions, suitable to foster a more profound interest and appreciation of music.

Items on the agenda included the purchase of a phonograph and an excursion to New York City in the spring to attend a musical comedy.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Second row: M. Van Nostrand, N. Williams, C. Kelley, M. Epstein, E. Brophy, P. LeFever.

"Time is the wisest counsellor."

Future Teachers of America is comprised of twenty-four prospective teachers, and it is a division of a national organization of the same name. The officers this year were respectively: Carol Kelly, Carol Mehm, Ernest Myer, and Bella Campbell, who were assisted by the group's advisor, Mr. Doheny.

Its purpose, to familiarize those students intending to become teachers with the general aspects of this profession, has been accomplished primarily through attentive interest in the suggestions and explanation of experienced instructors. These speakers included Mr. Martin, Mr. Tobin, and Dr. Northway, the director of elementary education in Kingston.

A visit to New Paltz State Teachers College proved extremely effective in enlightening the members concerning modern teaching methods.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

"Time and harvest, heat and hoary frost, Shall hold their course, till fire purge all things new."

In about five years either we shall be one of those cornerstones of American life, or we shall be very dependent upon them. They are the Future Farmers of America. There are fifty of these Future Farmers; and they have chosen as president, Charles Roach; vice-president, David Van Etten; secretary, George Braye; treasurer, Alfred Ostrander; reporter, William Osterhoudt. Mr. Klein is their advisor.

The club endeavors to bring together agricultural students for social activities. The teams participate in contests of the New York State Horticultural Show held in Kingston, and also have a booth in the Ulster County Fair. They try to make trips and take part in agricultural activities whenever possible. Every year a member receives at Commencement an American Agricultural Award.

First row: B. Clark, D. Chase, H. Petersen, D Shumen, M. Provenzano, F. Modica, W. Kieffer, D. Segal.

Fourth row: J. Blass, B. Herzog, F. Klepeis, L. Terwilliger, R. Hoornbeck, J. Blanschan, J. Bologh, D. Lawatsch, J. Smith.
Fifth row: R. Blatter, B. Ellis, D. Van Etten, L. Atkinson, R. Kozian, B. Osterhoudt, C. Roach, J. Dempsey, G. Hulsair.

EINSTEIN MATH CLUB

"Mathematics makes men subtle."

The twenty enthusiasts who comprise the Einstein Math Club are technical students who do not take for granted certain theorems and formulas, but attempt and usually succeed in proving or deriving them.

The incumbents of the offices this year were Ted Hutton, Peter Savatgy and Judith Strong. Every Tuesday, under the indispensable surveillance of Miss Case, this group, intrigued by the secrets that math offers, assembled to delve further into its study.

Among its scheduled activities was the presentation of a five-dollar award at graduation to the student who had attained the highest scholastic average in three year's study of mathematics.

Despite its limited attendance, this organization has achieved significance by the accomplishment of a large amount of school service, as well as personal satisfaction.

First row: M. Jahn, J. Strong, P. Peters.
Second row: T. Hutton, R. Atkins, E. Boice, C. Bohnke.
Third row: N. Paley,, B. Wilson, P. Savatgy, J. Geiselhart, G. Dyzewski, A. Emig, A. Salzfass.

SOCIAL STUDIES ILLUSTRATORS

First row: G. Quick, F. Reon, H. Post, B. Clement, H. Mercurito.
Second row: B. Halwick, M. Gedney, A. Hung, E. Sims, L. De Cicco.

"Ever-aging time teaches all things"

Another infant organization born this year was the Social Studies Illustrators' Club, which came into being with the belief that things illustrated are more easily understood and remembered. The requirements are either the ability to draw or paint or a searching mind to find good material to illustrate.

The club has already seventeen members who wish to promote an interest in social studies as a subject. Their president is Helen Mercurio; their vice-president, Kathryn Gedney; and their secretary, Emily Sims. Mrs. Wylie is their advisor.

They have done quite a bit of work already, even though they are a new group. They illustrate with cartoons or other means each unit of work covered in their classes. They plan for exhibits, visual aids and appropriate speakers.

CAMERA CLUB

First row: J. Strong, J. Van Bramer,, E. Cohen, J. Van Bramer.
Second row: E. Kelder, V. Macke, S. Dunbar, A. Emig, R. Fredrickson.
Fourth row: J. Wrinn, T. Miles, G. Dyczewski.

One of the newer features on the extra-curricular list is the Kingston High School Photography Club. Membership includes not only students but also members of the faculty. Its aim is to foster interest in photography among students and faculty and to promote exchange of ideas, exhibition of photographs, contests, and to improve the photographic work of its members.

During the meetings many interesting programs were offered to the members. They included lectures, practical demonstrations in developing and printing, and field trips. Cameras and their workings were also discussed to help students learn more about picture taking.

Geoffrey Fletcher, Gus Emig, Vera Macke, and Walter Foster are the leaders of this infant organization.

Mr. Hubert Hoderath acts as advisor and counsel to the club.

PROJECTION CLUB

First row: C. Tiano, S. Wood, L. Lasher, R. Costello.
Second row: H. Acker, R. Deyo, J. Kriz, J. Berlanger.
Third row: G. Mc Iver, B. Kleine.

Although the task of operating the audio-visual machines has been taken over by members of the student body in the past few years, they have neither been organized as a club nor been given proper recognition for their work. They not only show pictures in classrooms, assemblies, and on special occasions but also operate the other machines when the occasion arises.

Many students volunteer their services; and from these Mr. L. Connick, their advisor, chooses the number he deems necessary. They are usually students majoring in retailing.

Their first captain is John Berlanga and their first lieutenant Ronald Deyo. Other members of this group are: H. Acker, R. Mundt, C. Tiano, L. Lasher, G. McIver, J. Deyo, G. McEvoy, A. Salzfass, R. Terwilliger, and J. Kriz.

EQUESTRIENNE CLUB

The recently increased interest in horseback riding resulted in the formation of a Horse Lovers' Club, which changed its name to Equestrienne Club this year. This is the reason for the rather unusual sight of girls in jhodpurs, lugging saddles and bridles to their meetings.

The number of horse lovers seems to have increased almost one hundred percent this year to a membership of twenty girls. The president is Janice Freer; the vice-president, Nancy Brayant; the secretary, Katherine Every; and the treasurer, Joan Green. Their advisor is Miss Stocking.

The purpose of the club is to study horses and learn about horseback riding. Members, who meet outside of school hours to ride, have done a splendid job in carrying out the aims of their club.

First row: J. Green, B. Grant, G. Quick, E. Schwark.
Second row: J. Mack, M. Menger, R. DiMicco, N. Bryant, S. Gruver.
Third row: H. Mercurio, K. Every, M. Wood, B. Halwick, E. Aey.

AQUARIUM CLUB

First row: J. Schrader, Mr. Mason, R. De Dea.
Second row: J. Geary, O. Smith.

"Fishes that tipple in the deep,
Know no such liberty."

One of our newest clubs is the Aquarium Club. This is an excellent innovation that should become increasingly popular as the years go on, for few people realize as yet what a wonderful hobby it is to establish a balanced aquarium.

This group is organized informally and has no officers. Their advisor is Mr. Mason, who has in his science room several aquaria of both tropical and temperate goldfish. His enthusiasm and knowledge is of great value to the members.

The purpose of the club is to discuss problems of goldfish. The members are all very zealous about their hobby of raising tropical goldfish. We have high hopes that these fish lovers will, as time goes on, net big hauls for a very active club.

SKATING CLUB

First row: S. Krom, M. Williames.
Second row: T. Hutton, C. Schoonmaker.

"In skating over thin ice, our safety is our speed."

This winter, nature defied the wishes of the skating enthusiasts and failed to comply with their subconscious petitions for ice.

Despite their several attempts to flood the field behind Myron J. Michael, the two hundred and ten members were deprived of the opportunity to glide across the frozen straits of ice.

Membership cards were issued and committees were appointed to plan skating parties, investigate emblems, and obtain films. As a result, these too remained inactive.

Those who occupied the various authoritative positions were Shirley Krom, president; Ted Hutton, vice-president; Carol Schoonmaker, secretary; and Melissa Williams, treasurer. They were assisted in the conduct of their meetings by Miss Bestle, and they were to have been supervised on skating trips by Miss Darling!

CHESS CLUB

Many an afternoon after school one can go up to Mr. Mason's science room and find, amid aquaria and plants, many diligent chess players. Some learn, some play, and some just back seat drive. The number of members in this club is forty, and their able leader is Walter S. Foster. The vice-president is Heywood Feierstein; and the secretary-treasurer, Mildred Hoppe. Mr. Mason is their advisor.

Chess Club sponsors a team and awards its members letters. This year the chess team played their very toughest opponent, New Paltz State Teachers College, and tied the score.

The learned members teach the beginners the rudiments of chess until they too can play. The club is considered all around valuable for giving its members good mental gymnastics.

"So many hours must I take my rest,
So many hours must I contemplate."

Third row: A. Peters, E. Kelder, W. Foster, J. Gilbert, J. Barmann, P. Savatgy, K. Barnowitz, G. Fletcher.

A. A. COUNCIL

The A. A. Council is an organization we are minded of again and again, especially when the announcements are read about the next game: "Tickets cost seventy cents, A. A. thirty cents." This illustrates one of the accomplishments of this group of twenty-five members. They are the managers and captains of all teams, Leaders Club president, Letter Club president, and the like. Their president is Willard Hansen; vice-president, Chloe Comstock; and secretary, Dick Schultz. Mr. Kias is their advisor.

Some of their activities during ing the year are the A. A. dinner, at which they have a speaker; the A. A. drive; and the A. A. party.

The A. A. Council, which was formerly independent, is now ruled by the students. This gives the students representation in the organization of athletic programs.

Fourth row: R. Frederickson, C. Brueckner, E. Kelder, H. Taylor, C. Beehler, H. T. Miles, J. Ferguson.
Fifth row: M. Maines, E. Macaluso, J. Hennegan, K. Joyce.

"He who serves his brother best
Gets nearer God than all the rest."

The Junior Red Cross is a very active section of the General Red Cross in secondary and elementary schools, which serves to develop a concern and to activate magnanimous actions toward others less fortunate.

The officers this year were Harold Taylor, president; Kathleen Joyce, vice-president; Joan Hennegan, secretary; and William Steuding, treasurer. The council was composed of Eleanor Davis, Marilyn Maines, and John Ferguson. These groups met alternately each Tuesday. They were assisted by Mrs. Wylie and Mrs. DeWitt.

A membership campaign, a cake sale, and the fashioning of stuffed animals for hospitalized children constituted some of their diversified activities.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The purpose of this organization is to impress upon the minds of prospective homemakers such a vital interest and concern in home economics that its future application shall gradually materialize to enhance our standard of living and enrichen our American way of life.

The Kingston chapter was composed of approximately one hundred and twenty-five girls, who met once each month under the direction of their officers: Barbara Stagg, president; Diane Emmons, vice-president; Shirley Jackson, secretary; Carol Bell, treasurer; Sara Falwell, historian; Anita Atkinson, parliamentarian; Delores Smith, reporter; and Dolores Costello, song leader. They were assisted and advised by Miss Schuetz.

The membership of this section includes all students interested in home economics in all four years of high school, qualified by their studying or previous instruction in homemaking and the payment of comparatively small dues.

One of the most constructive of their proposed activities is the presentation of a scholarship at graduation to any worthy girl intending to major in home economics at college.

LEADERS' CLUB

This year sixty athletes make up the Senior Leaders Club. Only the girls leading in sports form this select organization. The president is Marilyn Thomas; vice-president, Mary Chmura; secretary, Pat Hayman; treasurer, Phyllis Kirchner; and point secretary, Melissa Williams. Their advisor is Miss Darling.

The Leaders are very active in many branches of athletics. Among some of their activities and projects are the Sox Hop dance, a trip to North Lake, a hockey playday in Highland, and a basketball playday at St. Ursula's.

This club was organized under Mrs. Irving Smith when it was found necessary for some students to help in gym classes and in outside sports. This has been most successful, and the club is highly regarded by all.

As M.J.M. gives girls an opportunity to become leaders, it was felt that there should be a junior leaders' club in Kingston High for these girls. This year there are forty Junior Leaders who were organized in M.J.M. by Miss Ward and are now being trained in K.H.S. to be senior leaders. Their president is Jeannette Yonta; vice-president, Mary Olsen; secretary, Carol Baum; treasurer, Lucille Cragan. Their advisor is Miss Darling.

Some of their projects include working with the Senior Leaders and running a pencil-selling campaign.

They are, of course, not so well organized as the senior leaders. To be organized and to establish high standards are problems the conquering of which makes the Junior Leaders material to become Senior Leaders.

In the consulship of Elaine Solomon and John Gill, assisted by Miss Nickerson, the Latina Club has enjoyed almost unprecedented success. One of the most effective programs, relevent to St. Valentine's Day, was the presentation of myths concerning the love affairs of the Roman gods.

The Espanol division, under the supervision of Frances Law and Miss Fellows, has provided its members with the more enjoyable aspects of Spanish, by participation in those types of entertainment which serve to encourage a more vital application of Spanish.

This year the General Language Club has accomplished much in acquainting its members with an extensive knowledge of the customs and daily life of the peoples whose vernacular tongues they study. The officers of the General Language Club were Barbara Millens, Joan Van Etten, Ina Lipkin, and William Schroeder.

This year witnessed the creation of the National Société Honoraire de Francais, a group of outstanding French students, qualified by a ninety percent average in French and an eighty-five percent average in all other subjects.

With Mary Chmura in the president's position and Miss Selmer as the group's advisor, the Deutsher Verein has furnished a very constructive and enjoyable diversion. for German students As 1949 marked the 200th anniversary of the famous German poet Goethe's birth, this section celebrated by displaying portraits and reading his compositions.

SKI CLUB

The turnout for Ski Club was unprecedented this year. One hundred and ten eger skiers make up the ranks, with the president, Douw Meyers; vice-president, Frances Law; secretary, Betty Flint; and treasurer, Dick Schultz. The advisor to the club is Miss Darling, our gym teacher.

To be a member of this club, one should be equipped with skis and all other necessary paraphernalia for the outdoors, and a good sense of equilibrium. One doesn't have to be an expert, but just a beginner, who likes to start off on a slope of thirty degrees, rather than "fly through the air with the greatest of ease."

The club was organized to encourage interest in winter sports and activities. It organizes ski trips when the weather is favorable. However, this Christmas was a woeful time for all those that take advantage of the vacation to go skiing. The temperatures in the fifties and even sixties foiled their purpose, not be mended until February brought fifteen and more inches of snow to the skiers.

Skiers in Kingston and the surrounding countryside have the advantage of being near excellent ski slopes. One outstanding slope, a very recent development, is the new Belle-Ayre run near the well-known Highmount. The Catskills have long been famous for ski slopes and claim many vacationists in the winter for this sport. However, we go also to the Catamount ski slope in Massachusetts. Our proximity to these slopes probably has a great deal to do with the popularity of this club.

SENIOR PLAY OF '50

K.H. S. did it again! On November 17, 18 and 19, the class of 1950 turned back the clock and re-enacted in their own inimitable fashion a story of the 19th century.

How it transported us to the days of our childhood when "Little Women" was our own favorite book with its beautiful story of an understanding mother and her four interesting and charming daughters.

The class of '50 was indeed fortunate in having so many excellent actors among its members. Outstanding was Connie Reppert who gave a superb performance as Jo, the tomboy. George Dyczewski, with his accent and understanding spirit, was a natural for the part of Professor Bhaer, Jo's romantic interest. Patricia Tarr was the gracious, dignified Meg, the oldest girl of the family. Starr Anderson, who has played many types, gave an excellent portrayal of the sweet, adorable Beth, and Janice Goodrich was excellent in the role of Amy, the blond youngest sister. Betty Jaffer, who played the part with sympathy and understanding, was Marmee, the ever-patient, lovable mother, while Richard Schultz was the calm, philosophical father, whose duties as chaplain during the Civil War left the girls and Marmee to direct their own lives. Geoffrey Fletcher gave a fine performance as John Brooke, the tutor who won Meg. Arthur Hutton was Laurie, the boy who lived next door and was interested in Jo; and Bernard Redmond took the part of Laurie's stately grandfather. One of the most interesting characters in the play was Aunt March, a crochety, old woman who caused the March girls many anxious moments. Arlene McGinnis played this role superbly. Shirley Krom took the role of Hannah, the family's Irish maid.

Once again the senior class has scored a success through the efforts of the cast and their hard working, ever-patient director, Miss Tarrant.

LITTLE WOMEN

The Senior Class wishes to express its sincere thanks to all who have helped make "Little Women" a success:

PRODUCTION DIRECTOR: Miss Madeline Tarrant.

SCENERY and LIGHTING: James Riehl, manager; Fred Ferraro, William Welhaf, William Leonard, and Walter Hansen.

PROMPTERS: Kathleen Joyce, chaiman; .Joan Hennegan and Marilyn Maines.

PROPERTIES: Betty Flint, manager; Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Emery Kelder and Thomas Miles.

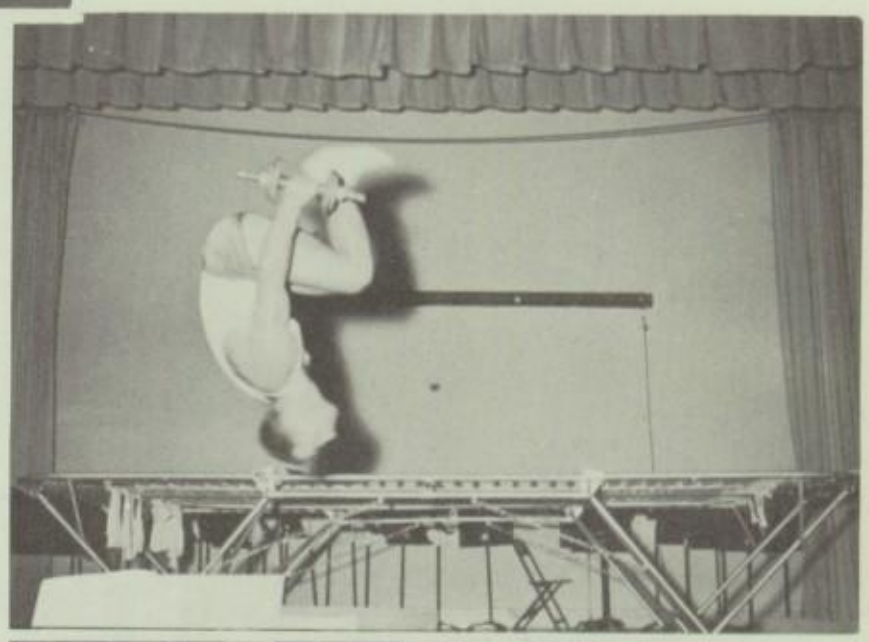
MAKE-UP: Eleanor Davis, manager; Ellen Byrne, Betty Marshall, Betty Burns, Betty Topp, Phyllis Conlin, Leona Olen, Pat Goldleaf, Mary Lou Mehm, Joan Carpino, and Carol Schoonmaker.

BUSINESS: Mr. Theron Culver and homeroom assistants.

MUSIC: Mr. Harry Berchin, Director of K. H. S. Orchestra.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Once again, the students of K.H.S. were treated to an outstanding assembly. On March 13, the Ithaca College Concert Band was featured in an exceptional performance of marches. Judging from student reaction and the fine program presented, we hope this college band will return to K.H.S. another year.



On October 6 the students of K.H.S. were entertained with one of the most fascinating programs ever given in an assembly. The Trampoline Stars presented a most unusual exhibition including tumbling acts, hand balancing feats, and a unique demonstration on the trampoline. This performance was the first in the series of paid assembly programs.

On Thursday, November 10, the Manning Chapter of National Honor Society held its annual fall tapping ceremonies, for the induction of seniors in the upper ten per cent of their class. Those inducted were: Mary Chmura, Janet Cole, Peter Edinger, John English, Willard Hansen, John Henville, Norton Lawrence, Joyce Massa, William Osterhoudt, Connie Reppert, Janet Roessler, Carol Schoonmaker, Marilyn Thomas, Barbara Van Sickle and Joan Webster.

Guest speaker at the tapping was Professor Will of New Paltz who gave a stirring talk on tolerance.

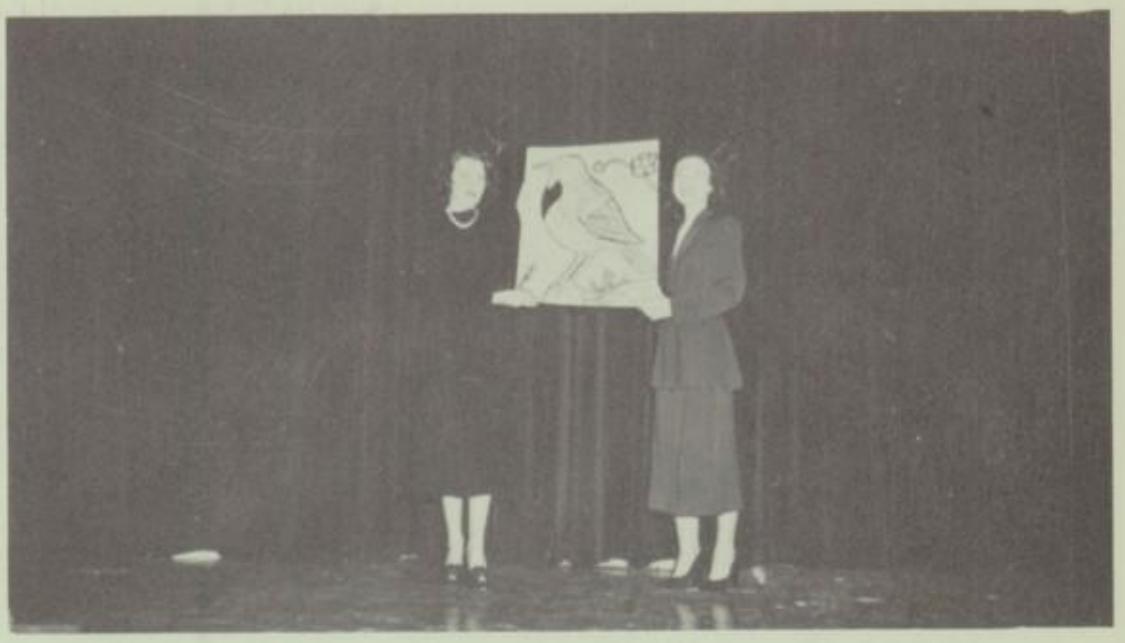
On April 22, the Language Club held a special Variety Show assembly. All four groups participated.

The German group, introduced by Joan Brueckner, was the first on the show. Their program, consisting of a poster-illustrated German song, was conducted by Pauline Poschner.

Next, the French group sang two songs, one of which, a children's counting song, was poster-illustrated. Their second number, sung in French, with musical instruments to illustrate the song, was conducted by James Wrinn.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

The second in the series of special assemblies was presented on November 14. Both assembly groups witnessed one of the most extraordinary performances ever given in K.H.S. Miss Diana Dixon, one of the four professional whistlers in the world, in addition to whistling several well-known melodies, gave a demonstration of North American bird calls, illustrated with pictures of each bird.



On February 20 the third in the series of paid assemblies featured the Wasantha Wana Singh Trio, Trio, specialists in the music and dances of India. Dr. Singh, soloist on the Saroda-Veena, gave a brief talk on some of the customs of his native country. Also, featured with Dr. Singh were the dancer Lakshimi, and Rohini, soloist on the Mauri, an instrument resembling a peacock in shape and color. This was an instructive, as well as entertaining, assembly.

Another newcomer to K.H.S. is the newly-organized French Honor Society, La Societé Honoraire de Francais. Only the following 14 students met the requirements for membership: Ruth Behrens, Audrey Burke, Arthur Carpouzis, Barbara Ewig, Florence Friedman, Joan Hennegan, Mildred Hoppe, John Misasi, Beatrice Newkirk, Ruth Paley, Sally Sherman, Mary Wallis, Joan Webster and Jean Winfield.

Guest speaker at this special meeting was Mr. Howard St. John, Jr., who addressed the group on the fascinating country of India.

"Tito and His Teacher" was the skit put on by the Spanish group, with Joe Koenig as the teacher, and Bill Dwyer in the part of Tito.

"Little Red Riding Hood" was then presented by the Latin group with Dick Kelly acting as the wolf; Una Schaffer, Red Riding Hood; and Joan Souers as Grandma.

"REMEMBER"

The annual A. A. Party was held this year on March 31 with Harvey Semiloff acting as master of ceremonies. Barbara Snyder was crowned queen of all sports with the following other queens: Audrey Burke, football; Betty Flint, minor sports; Barbara Snyder, track; Phyllis Kirchner, basketball; and Joan Massa, baseball. Dancing followed until midnight with music furnished by the Sentimentalists.

Spring Style Show

On Monday, February 27, Tri-Hi presented a treat to Kingston High School students in the form of a Spring Style Show. Both girls' and boys' fashions were shown through the courtesy of Montgomery Ward. Leona Olen acted as ticket chairman, with Carol Kelly, Emma Banks, Barbara Stagg, Evelyn Gedney and Nancy Kiff as her assistants.

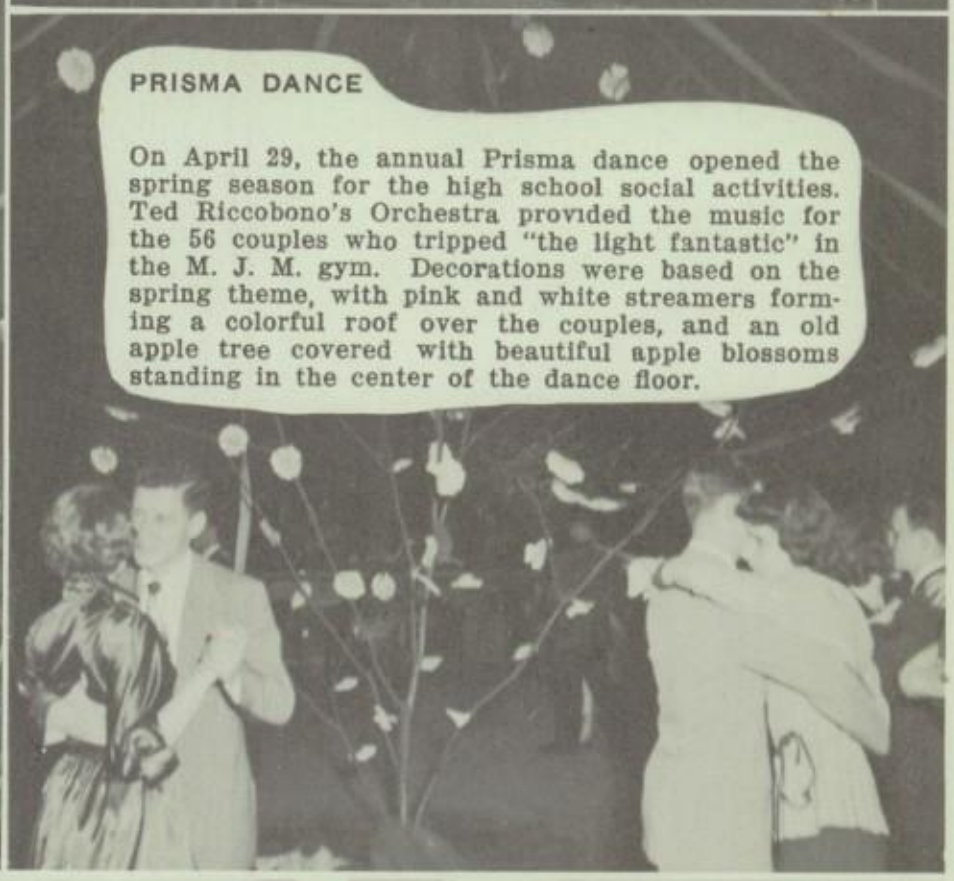
PRISMA DANCE

On April 29, the annual Prisma dance opened the spring season for the high school social activities. Ted Riccobono's Orchestra provided the music for the 56 couples who tripped "the light fantastic" in the M. J. M. gym. Decorations were based on the spring theme, with pink and white streamers forming a colorful roof over the couples, and an old apple tree covered with beautiful apple blossoms standing in the center of the dance floor.



A. A. Banquet

Herman Hickman, head coach of Yale University, spoke at the annual Athletic Association banquet, held in the K.H.S. gym on February 25. Coach Hickman reminisced of his many experiences from the time he started playing football at Baylor Preparatory School to his days with the Brooklyn Dodgers. His first coaching experience was as assistant to head coach Earl Blaik at West Point, and at present he is head coach at Yale.

"REMEMBER"

Christmas Dance

Bookwalter Chapter of Hi-Y held its third annual Christmas formal Thursday evening, December 29, in the M.J.M. gym. Music was furnished by Ole Christensen's Orchestra with the theme of the dance again being that of the night club.

Winter Wonderland Dance

Once again Tri-Hi held its annual girls'-bid semi-formal dance. This gay affair, with its seasonal decorations, was held December 10, with Chloe Comstock and Doris Hearst acting as general chairmen. Music for dancing was furnished by Ted Riccobono and his orchestra.

Sox Hop

This year a new type of dance was introduced to the students of K.H.S. when Leader's Club sponsored a "Sox Hop" held November 5 in the high school gym. Shoes were checked and the dancers made merry to the music of Jimmy Mottsey and his Sentimentalists.

Senior Prom

The annual Senior Prom, one of the principal social events of the class of 1950, was held in the M.J.M. gym, Thanksgiving night, November 24, with Joe Bosco as general chairman, and music furnished by Jim Sweeney's orchestra. The decorations were maroon and white, centered around the theme of "Club 50". Once again another successful Prom has gone down in the social history of K.H.S.

Time, oh Time, please stop in your flight;
Review our senior year, a year of great delight.

September opened our school year in a flurry of activities and changes, the highlight of which was a new principal MR. John martin, coming to us from long Island. This month was distinquished by a visit from Elizabeth Hoenhaver, an Austrian girl brought over to the U.S. under a Prisma scholarship. K.H.S. opened its football season with a victory over Highland-14-0. The first senior meeting was held and officers were nom- inated.

Oc- tober Lapo and Churma were elected head the Senior class to miss A. S. Scott attended the 12th annual Empire State School Press Association at Syracuse. Plans for a K.H.S. Radio program were underway. A second victory was gained for K.H.S. 37-7 over Port Jervis. Prisma opened its magazine drive. Student Council ruled on a co-ed lunch room.

November proved to be a month of many successes. Plans for a Ski Club were getting into full swing. A barrel of fun was had by all who attended the "Sox Hop" introduced and Sponsored by leaders Club. On Nov. 8th the first K.H.S. radio program was broadcast. Student Council secured cut rate tickets for all Students at Kingston movies. Honor Society inducted 16 new members of the senior class in a special assembly. The greatest achievement was the production

December - the month we had all been waiting for. On Dec. 5th Hi-Y took over our fair city with Whitney as mayor and Hutton as alderman-at-large. Bulter, White, Nash, Ferraro, Smith and Bruck acted as their colleagues. Dec. 10 - the over-due Harvest Moon dance was held. The annual Christ- mas party for the home of the aged was held by the Jr. Red Cross on Dec. 17. The social event of this month was the Hi- Y Prom held on Dec. 29th
January and back to school.
The Juniors elected their officers with Engle, Kelley, massa and Lyons leading their Class. Mary Churma was Chosen D.A.R. Represen- tative for Good citizenship award.
Mr. Brucket of our quid - ance department resigned on Jan. 20 to become proprietor of Tony's Brake Shop. The top social event of this month was the successful Key-Hop sponsored by Key Club. Thus the first month of 1950 ended.
Feburary - We had as our quest in as- sembly the Wasantha Wana Singh TRIO. They demon- strated the music and dances of India. Plans for our 1950 Class night were now in prog- ress. The Choir made a journey to Pots- dam to sing for future music teachers at the State Teachers College. Dick Davenport entered the N.Y. State down- hill Run at Bel- Aire in which he took seoond place. On Feb. 25th the A.A. banquet was held with Herman Hickman, head coach of football at Yale University, as quest Speaker.

FOOTBALL

As the defending Duso League champs started their season with only a few of last year's squad remaining, the future looked very uncertain. In the opening game Kingston overwhelmed Highland 14-0. When the Maroon and White walloped Port Jervis to the tune of 34-7 our hopes were high. In our next game, with Middletown, we spciled their hopes of a Duso Crown by the score of 13-0. Tragedy overtook Kingston in the next game at Newburgh, when the high-flying Goldbacks toppled us 14-0. Kingston's hopes were lowered, and in a return visit with Port Jervis we edged them out by only one touchdown 7-0. In our next game, at Poughkeepsie, it was again close; but we emerged the victor, 13-7. It was not until the final seconds of the second Middletown game that a pass from Ronnie Scheffel to John Weber clicked to make the only score of the game. With only the annual Turkey Day game remaining, Kingston was set for revenge against undefeated Newburgh. A pass from R. Scheffel to brother Bud for the extra-point gave us the winning margin of 13-12, and we were tied for the Duso Crown. This year's squad will be remembered for its fight and determination in tying Newburgh for the championship.

Under the lights.

BASKETBALL

Our boys' chances of regaining the Duso Crown looked good. We reeled off five straight victories over such Duso Powers as Monticello, Middletown, and Port Jervis before bowing to Tyler, Quimby and force of Newburgh. The unexpected happened, and our boys' hearts were downcast. The high-flying Goldbacks seemed sure to win the first half of the Duso; but as miraculous things were happening this season, Monticello beat Newburgh, and we had to play Newburgh in a playoff for first place. We lost by four points, and Newburgh was on her way to a Duso Crown.

In the next half we won all of our Duso games except the one against Newburgh. The next game found us playing Poughkeepsie on their so-called basketball court. Our boys morale being low from the previous Newburgh game, we lost by the narrow margin of two points. Newburgh won the Duso, and therefore we forgot the past and looked forward to the Intersectionals.

* Non-Duso Games

In the opening game of the Intersectionals we beat the Albany quintet and again had the chance to play Mont Pleasant. The undefeated upstaters overwhelmed us by eighteen points. In our last game we played Amsterdam for third place. When the final buzzer sounded, it was 63-63 and the game went into an overtime. The overtime was a battle of reserves, for on both sides most of the starting five had fouled out. Jimmy Riehl was our remaining player from the first string. The Amsterdam reserves held us to two points while gaining eight for themselves. Although we did not win the Duso, our boys were well supported by loyal Kingston fans.

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross country squad of Kingston High suffered a severe loss due to graduation, with only a few of last year's veterans returning. Coach Kias found it necessary to recruit an almost entirely new team and was fortunate in finding sturdy runners like Bob Peterson and Bob Baumer, who helped greatly in Kingston victories.

Led by Captain Dick Schultz, the harriers were prepared for their Hudson Valley opponents.

The two opening meets proved disastrous for Kingston, as Middletown and Monticello both romped to decisive victories. Kingston made a fast comeback to defeat Arlington High by the score of 19-36. Our hopes were now high for the DUSO and Section 9 championship meets, but again Monticello and Middletown intervened. We received some satisfaction by defeating Newburgh in the Section 9 championship, giving us second place.

Consistent running by Dick Schultz, Bill Burr, Frank Donnelly, and Dick Nash added to Kingston victories with many low points.

With most of the varsity regulars returning next year, Kingston can be assured of a top notch team that will rank with other great teams of the Maroon and White.

TRACK

The Kingston High track squad, under the direction of Coach Kias, is a close favorite to cop the DUSO crown this year. The 1950 harriers boast top-seeded track and field members. Judging by early spring performances, the squad will be based around the running of Frank Kiwus and Harold Acker in the sprints, Harry Craft and Bill Shaughnessy in the mile, Joe Ruzzo and John Koch in the hurdles, and Junius Harris in the mile event. The field events are handled by Paul Jeffrey and Bob Woodman in the pole vault, Bob Harrell and Phil Timbrouck in the broad jump, Bill Kleine in the high jump, Joe Berryann and Harvey Semilof in the shot put, Joe Duffy and Walt Hansen in the javelin, and John Henville tossing the discus. The relay team, consisting of Kiwus, Acker, Ruzzo and Mitchell, are all veteran track members and may again break the record set last year.

The Maroon trackmen exhibited their power by overwhelming Middletown High in a one-sided affair in the opening meet at the Stadium. Mr. Kias' boys swept six events and captured the relay for an 85½ to 27½ victory over the Middies.

The Kiasmen, with their share of good luck, can come through with a DUSO championship for the halls of K. H. S.

Sixth row: Berryann, Henderson, Souers, Mgrs., Kirschner, Mgr., Haggerty.

BASEBALL

As the spring season rolled around, the baseball turnout revealed that seven of last year's starting nine had returned again this year. Only Mike Rienzo at third and catcher Les Havens were missing from the 1950 lineup. These positions have already been adequately filled by Bob Lyons and John Kozlowski. The air-tight infield consists of Leonard at first, Ron Scheffel at second, Whitaker at short, Lyons at third, and Kozlowski with the catching chores. The outfield is well taken care of with Bud Scheffel in left, Jim Riehl in center, and Dick Schultz and Joe Norton sharing the right field position. Pitching, a sore spot since the days of Clark Mains, has been greatly improved this year. Veterans Ted Schwamb and Al Kuhn will perform most of the pitching chores, but Joe Pecora and Jerry Bechtold have promises of earning a starting berth before the season is over.

*Non-Duso Games

The opening game with Stewart Field Prep gave encouragement to Coach Burke, as Schwamb's fine pitching, combined with the team's hitting power, earned them a close 7-6 victory.

With the experience gained last year and the early spring performances, the Kingston High baseball squad, with the backing of loyal fans, has promises of winning a DUSO championship for the school.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

There was a loud and wild cry for a successful turnout ror the fourth season of girls' field hockey. During the latter part of September, 112 participants really started weilding their sticks with a bang. Two Senior teams were formed and three for both Junior and Sophomore girls.

Something new was added and through a double elimination tournament Perry's Senior Team I gained the title of "Championship of Losers" by losing only one game to their rivals, Senior Team II piloted by Melissa Williams.

In the last thrilling game of the season an underclass Junior Team claimed the "Championship of the Winners" by beating "Willie" Williams' team 4-2.

All credit is due to those conscientious gals, who, through their spirit, cooperation and sportsmanship made this sport of the fall season a successful one.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Introduced only a year ago, soccer is quickly becoming one of the favorite girls' fall sports of K. H. S. The soccer season started in October with over 120 enthusiastic sports-minded girls forming eight teams, three each from the sophomore and junior classes and two from the senior class.

The clash between Senior Team II, headed by Melissa Williams, and Junior Team III, headed by Madeline Cadden, ended in a close finish when the Juniors worked their way down the field to kick in an extra field goal which made them the champions for the 1949 season.
